CONDITION IN SWEDEN DOES NOT IMPROVE AS EXPECTED.

FOOD SUPPLY IS SCARCE

Strike of Workmen Continues and Need of Food is Becoming Worse.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Stockholm, Aug. 7.—Two regiments of Swedish troops stationed in the northern part of the country have struck and are in open rebellion, adding to the seriousness of the situation. The government itself shows that it is much worried by the latest news of dissatisfaction which has now spread to the soldiers.

The food situation is also a serious problem and the strikers who continue to hold out are living on fish, while the rest of the citizens are paying high prices for foods of all kinds. There seems to be an outlook for settlement of the present troubles for several days.

The present King Gustave V., has been on his throne scarcely two years. He succeeded his father, Oscar II., upon his death, December 8, 1907. Gustave V. inherits many of King Oscar's traits. With him, also, music, poetry and books run near to the heart's desire than politics and the cares of the state. He is 51 years of age; entered the army in 1875, and in 1892 was given the rank of general lieutenant. In 1896 he served as inspector of the military schools, and in 1898 was made a full general. Between the years of 1884 and 1891 he filled the office of viceroy of Norway. The occupation of Sweden and Norway a few years ago found in him a persistent and strenuous opponent, but his influence was in vain. On account of his opposition, however, he got himself disliked by the radical majority in the Norwegian parliament with the result that they took away from him a yearly source of revenue amounting to $12,500.

King Gustave was married to Princess Victoria of Baden, a cousin of the German emperor, at Carlsruhe in 1881. She is a descendant of the banished Vasa's, who, although they were pretenders to the throne, were the pride of the peninsula in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, when they were by the title of "Star-bearers of Sweden."

COMING ELECTIONS TOPIC OF INTEREST

Choice of Candidates of Maryland State Democratic Convention Watched by Politicians.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 7.—The attention of politicians will be attracted to the Maryland democratic state convention, which is to meet Wednesday to name candidates for the offices to be filled at the November election. An interesting political situation exists in Maryland at the present time. In recent years the state has come pretty close to being republican in party affiliation and has drifted toward the doubtful column in state elections. Now the democratic leaders, in order to keep the state safely under their party control, are working hard for a constitutional amendment that would result in the elimination of the negro vote. The amendment is to be voted for in November. Home-friktion exists in the democratic ranks, however, in regard to the amendment and the official action of the state convention is awaited with interest.

The political pot in the state of Washington, which has been boiling at a lively rate ever since Governor Hays succeeded to office last spring on the death of Governor Cosgrove, will be set abubbling again when the legislature meets Wednesday as an impeachment court for the trial of State Insurance Commissioner J. H. Shively. The trial results from a series of charges and counter-charges involving alleged mismanagement of the state government. The commission of impeachment against Commissioner Shively contains twenty-five counts, ranging from perjury to the charge of absconding with public funds for long periods.

War is to be declared against the United States at midnight, Friday, Boston is to be blockaded by a powerful enemy the next day, and the federal government in its extremity will call upon the commonwealth of Massachusetts to defend her soil from the invader. This is a summary of the program arranged by the war department to begin Saturday and continue one week. Fifteen thousand troops will be engaged in the war game, which will be conducted on a more extensive scale than ever before attempted in this country.

Monday is the time fixed for the beginning of the national rifle matches under the auspices of the National Board for Promotion of Rifle Practice and those of the National Rifle Association of America. The matches will take place on the Ohio state range at Camp Perry, Ohio. A number of national conventions and other gatherings of wide interest are scheduled for the week. Among the most important will be the National Irrigation Congress of Spokane, and the annual convention of the American Prison Association at Seattle.

In February, 1864, at the age of 18 years, he saw hard fighting through-out his service, participating in the Cold Harbor campaign and at Petersburg and was mustered out at the age of 19 with the rank of captain. So far there has not been much heard in regard to the meeting place for the encampment of 1909, but a spirited contest is expected to develop before the matter comes up for decision. A large section of the middle west is understood to favor the selection of St. Louis, while the Atlantic City has the honor of entertaining the veterans for many years. Atlantic City also will put in a bid for the gathering and it is possible that Rochester and one or two other cities may send invitations.

TYPOS MEETING IN STATE OF MISSOURI

Delegates from All Over United States at Convention of International Typographical Union.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

St. Joseph, Mo., Aug. 7.—The International Typographical Union, the oldest and one of the most conservative labor organizations in America, is to hold its annual convention in this city during the coming week. More than two hundred delegates, many of them accompanied by their wives, have already reached the city and tomorrow they will be entertained at Lake Country. The appointment of committees will occupy the most of the time of the opening session Monday and the convention will not get down to business before Tuesday.

Among the most important matters to come before the session is the question of old age pensions. Several resolutions looking to the perfection of this law will be submitted to the convention and an effort made to secure its adoption. Another matter to receive attention is the proposed increase in the funeral benefits and a law making its application uniform throughout the international jurisdiction. At the present time some of the subordinate unions pay considerably higher funeral benefits than others. Provisions looking to an extension of the correspondence feature of the

He summed up Thaw's family history with a declaration that when a number "broke, he or she broke a weak spot in the mind. Under the strain they developed imbecility or epilepsy."

Oshkosh, Wis., Aug. 7.—Unless the situation is relieved within the next week or ten days by heavy rain storms all of the paper mill owners and others using water power on the lower Fox river will be forced to rely upon steam power on account of the low stage of water. Assistant United States Engineer L. M. Attorney Morschauer, for Thaw, urged the court to consider only evidence produced in the present proceedings and to disregard Thaw's condition prior to, during, or just after the homicide. He dwelt upon the testimony of his own allenist and attacked that of opposing experts, especially the evidence given by Dr. Baker. If Thaw had had a latent trace of insanity, he said, the "horrors" of Mat-tawan would have made it evident.

Without any real cause apparently, and contrary to all medical assurances, she believes herself to be afflicted with consumption in its earliest stages, and in consequence spends the greater part of the year in what she feels to be more beneficial climates. A GROUP OF UNCLE SAM'S TEMPORARY PRISONERS MAKING OUT CROP REPORTS.
Victor Olmstead, chief statistician of the Department of Agriculture and the crop reporting board.

BY WALDON FAWCETT.

Washington, D. C.—Each succeeding month seems to find an increasing interest throughout the entire country in the reports issued by the department of agriculture every 30 days showing the condition of the crops and constituting, in effect, a very accurate forecast of the future food supply, market conditions and prices. However, the public is manifesting a little extra curiosity as to the showing made by the July and August reports as regards the wheat crop of the country—this exceptional interest being the result of the sensational speculation of the past few months in breadstuffs, particularly on the Chicago market. With this crop out of the way the public will almost immediately turn its attention to the government reports on the cotton crop, which from early autumn until December will focus attention on this staple. The crop reports issued from Washington 12 times a year are simply forecasts or very accurate predictions based upon secret, far-reaching information as to the size and character of the stock exchanges in the large cities, of the maturing crops. As a crop reporter Uncle Sam has in great measure superseded the private crop reporting organization maintained by large dealers in cereals and cotton, or by prominent speculators. As came out in the recent "corner" on the Chicago market some of these private reporting systems are yet resorted to and some firms have spent as high as $50,000 in a single season in gathering information, confidential in character, for a private report upon some crop. Obviously, however, no report corporation or individual can maintain any such crop reporting organization as has been cultivated in the service of Uncle Sam. The best evidence of the building magnitude of this country-wide intelligence system is found in the fact that an army of upward of 25,000 men is co-operating on the preparation of the forthcoming August reports. In the first place there are 34 state statistical agents who maintain their own corps of aids or correspondents, aggregating, 10,000 in number. In addition to this cordon of state organizations who report through the state statisticians there are 11,000 county correspondents and 30,000 township correspondents who report direct to Washington. Finally, 25,000 millers, elevator men, etc., give the government the benefit of their advance information on the wheat crop. All these various reports when received by mail or wire at the department of agriculture in Washington are turned over to the crop reporting board. The five members of this body—all expert statisticians—are, on the appointed day, locked in a room and are obliged to work out in secrecy the results of the forecast as compiled from the great mass of information. When the totals are made up the crop report is set up and printed by young men who are likewise prisoners in the locked room. Then the doors are opened and the eagerly awaited verdict is handed to waiting telegraphers who, with open wires in waiting, flash it instantly to all parts of the country and particularly to

PRESIDENT TAFT DURING THE WRIGHT BROTHERS' AIRSHIP TESTS.
President Taft, Senator Borah, Captain Dutt.

Washington.—No more enthusiastic believer in aeroplanes can be found today than President Taft. When he was head of the war department it is well known he was exceedingly skeptical on this subject, believing them impractical for war purposes. The recent demonstrations of the Wright brothers, however, have thoroughly convinced him that wars of the future will depend upon airships to a great extent, especially for scout work and signaling.

President Taft has been a constant attendant at the Fort Myer demonstrations, in which the Wright aeroplane has so completely demonstrated its power to navigate the air.

BUILDS OWN HOUSE
Mrs. Henry Pollock, at work on home.

Cincinnati.—Losing faith in carpenters because of the San Francisco earthquake, through which she went, Mrs. Henry Pollock, now of Cincinnati, Ohio, is her own architect, carpenter and builder. She built one house in San Francisco, which withstood the terrible quake, but is now building one other in a "more settled locality" as she calls Cincinnati on the coast.

Not only is Mrs. Pollock her own carpenter, but the house she is building is from drawn by herself from her own ideas. A cement foundation is a part of the structure. That these things would be built as she had planned, Mrs. Pollock took to the scaffold and with her husband as her only assistant, she built the entire house herself, for she declared that she wanted her Cincinnati home built exactly like her San Francisco home so the new house would also be able to withstand an earthquake.

Just what the woman did in the way of a man's duties may be gleaned from the facts that she drew the plans for the house without assistance from anyone, submitted these plans to the city building inspector, and had them passed upon. She purchased all the building material and then started in to build the house herself. The only work she did not do was the plastering and plumbing.

Commenting on her strange undertaking, Mrs. Pollock said, since passing through the terrible San Francisco earthquake, nothing could induce me to live in a house that I did not know was put up right. My house in San Francisco was built right and the earthquake proved it. If other houses were wrecked all around it, if women want things done right nowadays they have to do it themselves for the men don't understand the women. Mrs. Pollock is 37 years old. She taboos bloomers, or anything similar for her working garb. "O good old skirt and a shirtnest are good enough for me to work in," she said.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT
I know a hundred brothers I would aid
If I were rich;
And there are countless bills that would be paid
If I were rich;
There are a thousand favors I would do,
If I were rich;
I'd lend you money every day or two,
And say: "Don't mention it, old pal."
That's true—
If I were rich.
The "ten" you ask of me I'd gladly lend
If I were rich;
I'd make it more if you but asked it,
Friend,
If I were rich;
Sit down a while, I want to talk with you,
Although I can't afford to lend a son,
You'd like, perhaps, to know what I would do
If I were rich.
—Detroit Free Press.

This little scrap of verse expresses very tenderly the plea so common to many of us who like to tell what we would do if we were rich, and yet the chances are that conditions would not improve to any alarming extent if we possessed a gold mine.

Heck, honestly accumulated, means years of toil and sacrifice, and the practice of economy which makes men seem small and niggardly. This habit once formed soon becomes a fixture, and stays by the possessor long after fortune is made and when the necessity for economy no longer exists.

The old man with the clay pipe tells you that he prefers it to the best cigar but when pressed for a reason you discover that the old pipe is sweeter because cheaper. You find in his home the oil lamp and coal-burner, for the same reason, and yet he may be known as the richest man in town.

An old farmer on big-foot prairie living in the center of a choice section of land as the county possesses, usually went around looking like a rag-muffin; and when he went to Harvard to trade, in the summer time, shoes were not included in his wardrobe.

On one of these pilgrimages some kindly disposed people met him, and supposing that he was needy, bought him a pair of shoes and trousers, which were thankfully received.

The old man had a fat bank account, a good herd of blooded stock, drove fine horses, but drew the line on wearing apparel and furniture.

The late Russell Sage, with $80,000,000 behind him, was troubled with the same mania, and more than $12 always seemed extravagant for a business suit.

Of course if you and I had been as rich as the old farmer, or Mr. Sage, we would have kept a tailor in the house, and been on dress parade most of the time, but we wouldn't, for the chances are that had fortune come to us it would have been through the same channels of rigid economy, with habits so thoroughly established that the needless spending of money would seem a crime.

Many people in moderate circumstances, connected with churches, like to tell what they would do if they were rich, and the brother who has been so fortunate as to accumulate a little wealth is frequently criticized for lack of liberality in supporting the church.

While there may be some justice in this sort of criticism the fact is often overlooked that a man may be extravagant and prodigal with his charities, forgetting that his first duty is to his home.

The late Alexander Dowle managed to corral 50,000 of this class of people, recruited largely from churches, and many of them are stranded today in the city which he founded.

There is no form of insanity quite so contagious as religious insanity, and more church people need a guardian, when an extravagant church is being dedicated, than at any other time.

It is true that "The Lord loveth a cheerful giver," but He also has a high regard for people who provide for their own households, laying by a dollar now and then for emergencies. A bank account is not listed among the unpardonable sins and there are times when it is mighty convenient.

The man who is influenced by impulse under strain to give for any cause however worthy, beyond his means, commits an injustice to those dependent on him, and is more open to criticism than the man with money who may seem less liberal.

The Christian Science people have discovered the art of church building; whether other denominations can well afford to copy. Their money is all in the bank before the building is started, and no one is asked to contribute a dollar. The cash comes as a voluntary free-will offering, and the spirit back of it is love and loyalty. "The city of Rockford now has $30,000 of this kind of money waiting for investment."

It is difficult for any of us to know just what we would do if we were rich. If fortune comes to us suddenly the chances are that it would take rapid flight, for the thing which costs us nothing is seldom appreciated.

The trouble too generally is that many of us are one-talent people and if not restricted by the union of an eight-hour workday, we go to the other extreme and hide the talent in a napkin, and don't work it at all. Then we soon become automatons, eating, drinking and breathing under direction and dictation.

There are several things within easy reach more desirable than riches. One of them is independence of manhood secured through efforts to think and act for ourselves. Another is a disposition to make the best of conditions, and work with a purpose to better them.

Contentment and happiness are also most desirable, and these graces are in no way dependent on riches.

A great deal of mindless sympathy is wasted on people in moderate circumstances, for as a class the homes of these people represent more real happiness than the homes of any other class, and back of these conditions is the fact that somebody's money and brain furnishes employment.

The socialist may argue that the wealth of the world should be more evenly distributed, and muckraker reformers may enlist sympathy through appeals to prejudice and ignorance, but the fact remains that money and stewardship go hand in hand.

The average young man at 21 possesses the ability to make money, if he will apply it and cultivate the art of saving it, rather than getting married on $10 a week, or spending it in the saloon, his chances for a competency before the age of 30 is assured.

The world's neglected philanthropists are the men of wealth who invest their money in industries and transportation, thus giving employment to an army of workmen, who might otherwise suffer from idleness. The desire to be rich and join this class, is a laudable ambition of which no man may be ashamed.

(Copyright, 1909, by George Mathew Adams.)

I love the sun and the gentle breeze, and the brook that winds through the pleasant vale; and I love the birds, and I love the trees, and I'm always glad when I'm out of jail.

We are governed now by so many laws that liberty's dead, and we've heard his knell, and the wise man carries a net of saws, to cut his way from a prison cell. The grocer walks in a dungeon deep, for he sold an egg that was out of date; the baker's fetters won't let him sleep; a loaf of his bread was under weight. The butcher beats at his prison door, and fills the air with his doleful moan; they'll cut off his head when the night is o'er, for he sold a steak that was mostly bone. The milkman's there in the prison yard, and the jailer dog him and make him jump; it seems to me that his fate is hard, though he did draw milk from the old home pump. A sickly weed, that was rank and thin, embellished my lot, at the edge of town, and the peepers nibbled me and ran me in, because I neglected to cut it down. I dropped a can as I crossed the park, and that is a crime that's against the law; so they shut me up in a dungeon dark, with the rusty chains and the moldy straw. I love the brook and the bubbling breeze, and I'm rather fond of robins and humbees, and I'm always glad when I'm out of jail.

Heart to Heart Talks.
By EDWIN A. NYE.

WHAT THE CITY DOES.
England is teaching the nations by horrid example that they cannot afford to neglect the physical welfare of their people.

In 1850 the lowest standard for British infantry was five feet six inches. During the Boer war, in order to fill up the ranks, it was further lowered to five feet.

Which tells a sad story of physical decline.

Or, to put it in another way: During the Boer war 50 per cent of the English troops fell below the minimum standard of chest measurement and 75 per cent of them fell below the minimum weight required.

Put in terms of everyday speech, that means that the English common people, once a stout yeomanry that was the pride of Britain, has degenerated physically and is rapidly becoming enfeebled and stunted.

There has been no such weakening of the Germanic peoples. And this fact, in the present state of feeling between England and Germany, is a source of apprehension to the former.

What is the cause of the physical decline in the English masses?

The city.

Two hundred years ago 25 per cent of England's population lived in cities; now nearly 75 per cent live in these urban centers.

The great, growing monster, the city, receives into its insatiable maw the strength and vigor of manhood, and spews it out weakened muscles, flabby flesh, tainted blood.

The country builds up healthy tissue; the city eats it up.

God made the country; man made the city.

The country is man's natural, normal place; in the city man is out of his natural surroundings.

Man in city surroundings is a physical misfit.

Therefore whatever influences tend to keep people out of the cities, where the massing of humanity in congested districts breeds disease and degeneracy, are to be encouraged.

Made to live close to nature, man is like that fabled personage who could renew his strength only when his feet touched the ground.

Deprived of his sources of strength, he degenerates, not only in body, but—what must inevitably follow—in mind and morals.

SUGAR BEETS ARE SAID TO BE DOING VERY WELL.
"The best sugar crop is standing the weather better than any other crop in the state," said a raiser of beets yesterday. "There has not been enough yet, but the beets are doing fine and the crop is one of the best ever raised. Of course the farmers have to keep on plowing the crop, for in dry weather the soil must be stirred. The crop is clean also and I look for a good yield of beets this year."

Robertson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Robertson, is seriously ill at a hospital in Amarillo, Texas, where he went several weeks ago to visit with relatives. His father, who is a traveling salesman for a mining tool company at Ottumwa, Ia., and who is about to leave New York City, has been called to the young man's bedside. Though in a critical condition as the result of a protracted attack of typhoid fever, it is believed that he will recover and can be brought home about Sept. 1.

NEARED DEATH IN TRIP OVER BRIDGE
Part of Train Goes Through Bridge on the Mineral Point Division.

Part of the Mineral Point way freight which leaves Janesville at 2:15 in the morning, crawled through a small railroad bridge two miles this side of Burlington about 4 o'clock, badly damaging five or six cars and endangering the lives of the train crew.

The bridge, which is constructed of wood, burned out some time during the night but there was no indication of the damage that had been done. The train was in charge of conductor Gallagher with Engineer Faller and Fireman Rooney in the cab. Engine 851 reached the opposite side of the bridge when the supports gave way, precipitating the tender and following cars into the dry bed of the stream. Neither the engine crew nor brakemen Geo. Barry and McCue, who were on the rear end of the train were injured, although had they been on any of the first five cars, the wreck might have had fatal results.

Traffic has been tied up on the division and the way will remain closed until the wrecking crew which went out in train 91 this morning can clear the track and repair the bridge.

Fireman Kennough went back on the dog run last night with Engineer Allen in place of Fireman Hebert.

Fireman Rooney went out on 165 this morning with engineer Faller. Heitz took his place on the 1044.

Fireman Hebert took Roehm's place on the switch engine last night with engineer Webber. Roehm is on the switch engine today with engineer James.

Brakeman Gregory is laying off 173 and 174 for a few days to make a pleasure trip to Milwaukee.

Chicago and North Western.
Engineer Schoenberg is relieving engineer Brazzell on 51 and 531 for a few trips.

Engineer Jenkins and fireman Wood brought engine 1114 from the Northern Wisconsin Division and turned it over to the Madison Division for service last night. It was ordered out to Harbree this morning at 8:30 on an extra in charge of engineer Jessop and fireman Gloyer.

Engineer Dudley and fireman Hackshaw returned from Chicago this morning on 585 with engine 1329 and went on the board.

Fireman Frank Dooley took his examinations this afternoon and went to work on the switch engine this evening with engineer Wilson, who was forced to give up his air-pump instruction class in the former "Walsh-Castorin."

Engineer Garbutt returned to work on 319 and 322 today displacing engineer Crowley who has been relieving him.

There were eight extras out of Janesville yesterday. Conductor Roehl took an extra consisting of seven men to Fond Du Lac this morning for service in the lumber country.

To Open Store in Oshkosh Ernest G. Lapierre and Leslie Holmes of this city are to open a large shoe store in Oshkosh on Sept. 15. Both men are well known residents of Janesville. A Recipe for Good Looks

The first "ingredient" in the recipe for good looks is pretty teeth.

Given a fine, good looking set of teeth, no man or woman need have any fear that he or she will be called anything but good looking.

Next to the eyes, the teeth are most in evidence.

Every word that is uttered shows the teeth; every smile shows the teeth; every time one takes a mouthful of food the teeth are in evidence, be they good, bad, or a mixture of both.

We put the question directly up to you:

Do you want to make a good impression?

Then have your teeth cared for by the Dentist.

I believe I am fitted by experience, equipment and ability to do well by you.

Let me care for your mouth.

PLANS SUGGESTED FOR THE HOBOES

JANESVILLE BECOMING THE STOPPING-OFF PLACE

"HICKORIES AND STONEPILE"

These Two Methods Would Work Wonders in Ridding the Community of Undesirables.

"Hobo" is the name by which most people know him. "Ho" is the term he uses to designate a companion, but the old slang word, "bum," best describes his mental, moral and physical characteristics. With the advent of seventy-five or more of this distinctive American product, who worked for the North-Western railroad and banded near the freight house, and the resultant labor troubles, and police activity, the people of Janesville have had an exceptional opportunity to observe the ubiquitous "traveler" at his best, or worst.

Much has been written about this type of American manhood. Jack London, with facile pen, has cast a sort of romantic haze about the wanderer, his adventures and life, until the easy-chair citizen who never comes into contact with the real article, regards him colorfully and perhaps envies his unhampered existence just a little.

Sociologists have studied him, and drawn involved conclusions in regard to what species of creature furnishes him with an excuse for existence. The railroads, industrial conditions, the moral degeneracy of the men themselves, all have been recipients of the doubtful honor of being father to what can only be called an aberration, but the fact remains, no matter what conditions are responsible for his existence, that he is, like the poor, always with us, and many times his presence is, to say the least, undesirable.

The hobo has many names, and when brought up in court, many occupations. Generally he is looking for work, but the work he is looking for is hard to find. His ideal job would be acting as a hobo for a wireless telegraph company. His excuse for not finding work are many things, but the most plausible, one "he" would face Judge Field and long ago stated that he was simply waiting until Elmer Ellsworth freed himself from the coils of the law in order to apply for a position.

Most of these wanderers do not like to be called hobo, tramp, bum, "Weary Wilkes," hobo, or any of a multitude of cognomines, humorous or otherwise, that are applied to them. Some of them will admit that they are hoboing it, but generally the transient offers the explanation that he has just come down from Madison, or Beloit or any nearby town, bought a meal, found no work and is looking for a good chance to get out of the city. They are never tramps, but workmen, looking for work. Their jobs, however, are like angel's visits, or hen's teeth.

It is not always best to rely on what is written about "hoboes" if a good working knowledge of the class is desired. The men who are forced to employ them, railroad contractors, those officials whose duty is to tax them in charge when they become obnoxious, the police, or the sheriff who is obliged to keep them where they are, are the ones who are the reliable authorities on the hobo, tramp, or hobo. Everyone will agree that the American hobo is cowardly, dirty, lazy, drunken, thieving, in fact, almost everything undesirable in a citizen. If he works, it is simply for the purpose of getting enough money to get drunk. If he hobo, it is because that unhealthy habit is obligatory before he can get a free lodging when the thermometer is below zero. Besides he would rather bathe than freeze to death, for he is too cowardly to die.

If he does not steal, it is because there is nothing valuable handy, or he is afraid of detection. If he keeps sober, it is because he can neither beg, borrow or steal a drink. He will drink anything that has alcohol in it—beer, whiskey, alcohol and water; he will even steep tobacco in water and drink it.

Of course there are exceptions to the above statements. You may hear of a hobo who saves a stranger's life at the imminent risk of his own, but the instances where he will run like a rabbit at the sight of an officer's brass buttons are many times more numerous. He is very brave when in company with several of his ilk but becomes a poor, foolish boy who is burning it for the first time to do unspeakable things or threatens a woman whom he knows to be alone in the house when he "pan-handles" a meal. The old saying that the exceptions prove the rule applies here.

The recent actions of the gang of "hoboes" who were employed by the North-Western road between Janesville and Evansville is a good sample of the characteristics of the average "bum." These men were getting fairly good wages for unskilled work, better food than they got elsewhere, and the free lunch counter—but they did not have the money to buy food. The next step was to strike for their wages, but very few bought clothes and a great many did get drunk.

A number were arrested and are working time. Most of them, instead of returning to work, "hit the crib" for the harvest field. Some of them did not have enough money so they proceeded to break into the store cars and steal whatever they could lay hands on. Drunkenness, broken promises and robbery, a good index to their characters.

Most of the employers of this transient and unreliable labor have little faith and low faith in "hoboes." Treat them like white men, one says, and they will think you are afraid of them and they will impose on you. They get so used to being kicked out bodily during the winter from West Madison street saloons for grabbing too much free lunch, that they cannot appreciate good treatment. They will steal anything they can get their hands on and drink anything with alcohol in it. These remarks were called forth by the actions of the steel gang.

With regard to frequency of visits, Janesville is highly honored. Nearly every "ho" in the United States knows Janesville and most of them speak of it as a "good town." One reason for this doubtful honor is that this city is a good railroad center. It is a meeting point for six railroad divisions in addition to being "wired" and fairly close to Chicago on both railroads. Besides "bums" are "chased," but not given the "hickory," and if they do get a jail sentence there is no stone pile.

Various expedients have been proposed for discouraging this horde of the National Order of Trampdom, who make it a point to include Janesville in their yearly itinerary. That a disproportionate number of "bums" do visit Janesville is a well known fact and can easily be verified by inquiry among those who are in a position to know—railroad employees or the police. At one time this spring, fifty-two men were given shelter over night in the lock-up.

Sheriff Scheibel is of the opinion that organized parties of a couple of policemen armed with long "hickories" every evening would be of great benefit. These canes, applied with power, would cause the greatest pain without the least danger would prove powerful persuaders to visiting "hoboes" that Janesville would be a good place to pass by. It is said the scheme worked like a charm in Beloit.

Judge Field thinks that a stone pile would prove very efficient in discouraging callers. Tramps do not mind a jail sentence if they are not compelled to work. They have no pride, and six days behind the bars, with enough food, simply serves to rest them and works up a good thirst. The "hickory," too, serves as a deterrent to "move along," and the stone pile, as a lesson to "stay away." If applied thoroughly for a couple of years, would soon cause the "hoboes" to scratch Janesville off their calling list.

Chief Appleby does not favor the indiscriminate use of the "hickory" and looks somewhat dubiously at the stone pile. It has been his motto in dealing with the hobo in his many years of office to gather in as many offenders as possible. According to the chief, it would be hard to tell sometimes between a real dyed-in-the-wool hobo and some hard-worked man who has fallen from grace. It would hardly be just to mete out the punishment for a habit to a workman who has only occasional lapses of virtue.

Just what means of persuasion will be used to discourage tramps from making Janesville a jumping-off place is problematic. There are no statistics either in the city clerk's office to show just how many do make this city, for when arrested, all of the "bums" are working men. Besides, only a few are arrested. It is the opinion of many that something ought to be done for if Janesville becomes a good tramp town it is liable to become good for nothing else.

Excellent athletic records were made by members of the Y. M. C. A. in camp at Lake Delavan during the past ten days. A track and field meet was held and the entrants did exceptionally well. JAS. SHEARER WAS THROWN FROM RIG

And Received a Bad Shaking Up in a Runaway Accident on River Street This Afternoon.

This afternoon about 2:30 a horse belonging to Charles Smith, one of the rural mail carriers and which Mrs. Ora Smith, substituting for the regular carrier on Route 7, is driving, broke its bridle on one of the climbing rungs of a telephone pole to which it was attached and falling head free, started down the alley and a merry clip. Coming to River street, it turned and ran down South River street and passing Jas. Shearer's office frightened Mr. Shearer's horse, which was standing there so that it started to run. Mr. Shearer, who was in the buggy, was thrown out and dragged a short distance, his steel being caught in front of the lower City Hotel. The Smith horse, however, continued on its way, and having freed itself of the person by breaking the bridle, started for home. The only damage done was to break up the harness. Mr. Shearer's injuries were not much more than a severe shaking up.

ANOTHER MONSTER DESTROYED.

A Grateful Lady of Janesville Calls Upon Vurpillat to Extend Her Thanks—Many Testimonials Received—Office at 509 W. Milwaukee St. to be kept open Sunday.

Yesterday Mrs. Fred Layzow of 1250 Court St., called upon Vurpillat, bringing with her a monster tape worm. Upon seeing Vurpillat, who took him by the hand and, to the amazement of those in the office, who exhibited the tape worm, and said: "For the past three years my little daughter Alice has been a sufferer from stomach trouble and at times her misery was intense. She constantly complained of feeling tired and her appetite at times was ravenous and at other times the sight of food was repulsive to her. In fact she was a very sick child.

"I purchased a package of the New Discovery and after I had given Alice three or four doses of it she passed not only this large tape worm but two much smaller worms as well. I had given my little girl a great many different remedies, but she got no relief whatever and I was on the point of despair. The sight of them squirming about was enough to convince me that this child's trouble was caused by these parasites. I am now contented to good health and I know I owe it to this Discovery and I shall always have words of praise for it."

Such testimonials coming from people who are known for their honesty and integrity, strengthens the confidence of all suffering humanity. The good that is being done in this city by Vurpillat and his preparations, has made this eccentric individual one of the most talked of men that has ever visited Janesville.

Vurpillat extended an invitation to all afflicted with any ache or pain, deafness or kindred ailments to step upon his platform and he would demonstrate to them the curative power of this New Discovery. Several took advantage of this broad invitation. Among the number was Mr. Walter Holm who was suffering with a sprained wrist. After a few minutes' application of the Discovery Mr. Holm was able to move his wrist freely without the least pain, something he was unable to do before coming upon the platform.

A feature of tonight's program will be the hour contest for little boys and no doubt the usual large crowd will be present. For the benefit of the working people who are unable to come during the week the office at 509 W. Milwaukee St. will be kept open Sunday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m., where consultation and examination are free to all.

"Father" of Aristocratic Legislative Body of England is Eighty-six Today.
(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
London, Aug. 7.—Earl Nelson, the oldest member of the House of Lords, received congratulations today on the occasion of his eighty-sixth birthday. He succeeded to the earldom at the age of twelve, and is the only member of the House of Lords who was a peer during the lifetime of King William IV. The Earl is a grand-nephew of the famous Lord Nelson, the hero of Trafalgar, and by virtue of this connection he receives a perpetual pension of $25,000 a year. He in no way resembles his illustrious grandnephew, and is as straitlaced as the latter, was the reverend. He was at one time a clergyman, and for years has been a prominent and influential member of the English Church union.

Its Meaning Brought Home.
"When a man begins to pay his son's college debts," says the philosopher of Folly, "he understands what is meant by a 'liberal education.'"

Only he is lord of riches who despises them, and he is so whether he has any or not.—Pope.

Their Names Anglicized.

Sir William Drinkwater died recently on the Isle of Man. He was descended from a Huguenot family named Holloau, which sought refuge in England after the revocation of the edict of Nantes. Many of those refugees translated their names into English, sometimes with a slight alteration of their surnames, and thus Holloau became Drinkwater; Delamere, Rytchew; Dulon, Waters; Joffanme, Prattymann; Lacroix, Cross; Le Blanc, White; La Foyre, Smith or Faber; Sauvage, Savage or Widd; Leroy, King, and Lelouin, Bird. Other names in course of time lost all trace of their French origin. De Moulins, D'Orleans and De Preux were changed to Mullins, Doring and Diprose, and Beaufoy was corrupted to Boffy.

It Depends.

"How do you pronounce a-d-i-n-g-y?" the teacher asked the young gentleman nearest the foot of the class. And the smart boy stood up and said it depended a great deal whether the word applied to a man or a bee.

How About Your Children? YOUR BOY--YOUR GIRL

The coming year at school should develop them along well-defined lines which will make of them useful and forceful personalities when they reach mature age.

It isn't only a question of text-books and discipline; both good; there's a great deal more to your boy's or girl's education. The Almighty Dollar is the potent factor in every phase of life these days of commercialism. Money is mighty. Those who possess money, or the capacity of earning it, are the world's leaders. Don't think this a sordid view of the situation. The men and women with incomes are the ones whose lines are cast in pleasant places and enjoy the fat of the land. Are you in the income class? Do you wish your children to be? If so, training will accomplish the desired result.

The Practical Things Are Taught Here

We teach Bookkeeping, Stenography, Typewriting, English, Business Law, Arithmetic, Penmanship and kindred subjects, a knowledge of which secures for the boys and girls their rightful positions among the world's workers. If you are to make an impression on the face of the world a business education is an all-important essential.

Training, capability and common-sense, practically applied, mean honor, wealth and happiness.

Lincoln, the martyr, said: "Give your boy a chance." Likewise the girl.

NOW LISTEN!

Send your sons and daughters to our school and we will give them such a training in the practical things of life as will enable them to attain these things. Today—now—is the accepted time.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

LOVING is a far greater thing than being loved.
And yet how few people look at it that way.

A woman who has allowed herself to win a man's love without possessing the power to return it is frequently proud of the fact. She should be thoroughly ashamed.

The woman who has fallen in love with a man who does not love her is frequently ashamed of the fact. She should be thoroughly ashamed.

The saddest thing in life is to give a great love and not have it returned.

But the most tragic thing in life is never to have loved at all.

Anyone who goes through life without ever loving someone else better than himself, even if only for a brief time, is spiritually defective.

Of two unmarried women whom I know, one was jilted on the eve of her wedding day because her lover found that after all he cared for another woman. The other never married, though two or three men were said to have laid their hearts at her feet.

Of these two the real "old maid"—the unattractive, soured woman to-day—is not the woman who failed to win true love, but the woman who did not know how to love.

I believe that anyone who gives an unrequited affection gets more happiness, however bitter-sweet it may be, than anyone who is the object of such an affection.

I am not advising any man or woman to foster a love that is plainly one-sided. But I do say, if you find that that little will of the wisp creature, love, has flitted, however unbidden, into your heart and will not go away, do not be wholly sad.

Be proud that you can love.

Seek to love in the very highest, holiest fashion.

Try to reach the supreme height of love that would rather see the one you care for thoroughly happy with another than not fully content with you.

And try if you can, to make this your creed:

"I hold it true whatever befall,
I feel it when I sorrow most,
'Tis better to have loved and lost,
Than never to have loved at all."

ROMANCE CUT SHORT BY SUICIDE OF BARON OSKAR ROTHSCHILD, MISS OLGA MEIN.

Chicago, Ill.—The tragic suicide of Baron Oskar Rothschild, youngest son of the Vienna branch of the famous family of bankers, brought to a sudden climax the romance of Miss Olga Mein, Miss Mein is the daughter of a well-known Chicago physician, Dr. Rudolph Mein, 15 Lincoln street.

The romance had its beginning six weeks ago, when a companion of the young baron was taken ill in Chicago while touring the United States. He was taken to the German hospital, 754 Hamilton court, and Dr. Mein attended him. Later, when he was convalescing, the baron declared his love, proposed and had been accepted by the beautiful and talented Chicago girl. Then the storm began to blow. The baron carried his father for permission to marry the Chicago girl. This was not given, but instead came a message summoning the baron home to discuss the affair with his family. To consent that the girl's family would give her over his family, he started for Europe when he got Mrs. Mein's telegram. He was met by her daughter, 754 Hamilton court, and Dr. Mein attended him. BOMBS PERIL SPAIN'S PEACE

GUERRILLA WARFARE THREATENED BY 30,000 MEN IF PRISONERS ARE HELD.

DECREES ISSUED BY KING

Appoints a New Governor for Barcelona. Scene of Bloody Riots—Moors Again Attack Troops—Anarchists Blamed for Failure.

Barcelona, Aug. 7.—Spain now faces the probability of a guerrilla warfare with bombs as the weapons in the hands of 30,000 men who are prepared to resume the struggle for freedom from the king's yoke.

Mutterings are heard and there is a report that the first blow in the new revolt will be struck Monday, when another strike is to be called. The prospects of another outbreak depends upon the course the authorities decide to pursue regarding the prisoners in the Montjuich fortress. These include several adherents and prominent republicans. If they are condemned to death, or given unusually severe sentences, it is said 30,000 men will renew the conflict.

Blames Fanatics for Failure. A prominent republican of Barcelona said:

"The insurrection at first had the support of all the republican elements in the country and promised to be a complete success; but when the anarchists and the anti-clericals began burning and sacking the churches and convents the better class of republicans withdrew. Had it not been for the insane ferocity of the fanatics I sincerely believe that the republican flag would today be flying over Catalonia."

Madrid, Aug. 7.—On account of the unfavorable criticism aroused by the system of exempting rich men from the military service upon the payment of $300, King Alfonso issued a decree abolishing a money indemnity in lieu of service.

The king also has signed a decree appointing Deputy Crespo Azorin governor of Barcelona.

Official dispatches from Melilla say the Moors, in increased numbers, again attacked the advanced posts of the Spaniards and that one soldier was wounded. Artillery shelled the plain of Nader where herdsman were seen to be assembling. The reports also say that another convoy has been attacked by the Moors and in the ensuing fighting two Spaniards were wounded.

Oran, Algeria, Aug. 7.—According to official information received here the Rifas, who are opposing the Spaniards at Melilla, have cut off a large part of the Spanish water supply, and the town is threatened with a water famine and epidemic.

Precarious Position at Melilla. Paris, Aug. 7.—A dispatch to La Liberte from Melilla, Morocco, says the position of the Spanish is precarious. Every day the Moors cut the communications between Melilla and the outposts, and since July 29 the Spaniards have lost 60 men killed and 150 wounded in re-establishing their means of communication. The Moors on August 4 captured a patrol of 50 Spaniards.

Madrid, Aug. 7.—The Moors have attacked a Spanish outpost at Melilla. Subsequently they assailed a convoy and in this engagement several Spaniards were wounded.

Judge Rules Against Government in Indian Cases in Oklahoma.

Muskogee, Okla., Aug. 7.—Federal Judge Ralph E. Campbell sustained the demands of defendants in 30,000 Indian land alienation suits brought by the government. The actions by the government were null and void. The court held that the titles obtained from the Indians before the act removing restrictions went into effect are good.

The alienation suits were brought by the government in the interests of the Five Civilized Tribes. It is estimated that about 2,000,000 acres of land was involved.

The defendants in the suits, who claimed title to the land by reason of purchases from the Indians are scattered throughout the United States and some reside in Scotland and Mexico. Senator Robert L. Owen was a defendant in 150 cases and Chief Justice Williams of the supreme court of this state was also a defendant.

Big Suit Against Packers. New York, Aug. 7.—Armour & Co., Swift & Co., and Morris & Co., the Chicago packers, are named as defendants in a complaint filed under the provisions of the Sherman anti-trust act by the minority stockholders of the New York Butchers' Dressed Meat Company, who seek to recover $1,500,000 damages on the complaint that its business has been completely stifled by the big packing companies' purchase of a controlling interest.

More Apples This Year.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 7.—An apple crop in the United States slightly in excess of that a year ago and 50 per cent. larger in Canada is the estimate made by Secretary Rothwell before the International Apple Shippers' association. The association elected W. L. Wagner, Chicago, president.

FRANK NICOLAI AND $5,000 ARE MISSING

at Auburn.

New Albany, Ind., Aug. 7.—Frank Nicolai, assistant cashier of the City National bank, has disappeared, leaving a shortage of at least $5,000. Before his departure Monday Nicolai bought a revolver and his friends fear he has committed suicide rather than face the consequences.

The shortage was discovered by National Bank Examiner Prazler, who was making his periodical examination of the bank.

The officers of the bank kept the matter quiet, however, hoping the assistant cashier would return and make a satisfactory explanation. When he did not show up yesterday a statement was given to the public announcing that Nicolai had fled the books to cover a shortage of fully $5,000.

Nicolai was one of the most popular young men in the city. He was a good fellow and everybody regarded him as a friend. He was also a good spender.

JUSTICE AND CONSTABLE FIGHT

Kokomo Peace Officers Have "Scrap" Over Use of 'Phone.

Kokomo, Ind., Aug. 7.—The office of Justice Samuel Doty of this city was the scene of a violent encounter in which Doty and his constable, Oscar Welty, were the principals. The officers after a quarrel over who used the telephone most, came to blows, and after demolishing all the office furniture, the squire used the official seal as a weapon and Welty clubbed the justice with the butt of a revolver.

Both combatants are now under care of surgeons. Admittance was filed for the arrest of both the belligerent peace officers and for the revocation of their official commissions.

LIGHTNING FIRES MAN'S SUIT.

Farmer Hurt by Shock, But Finds His Clothes Burning.

Edwardsville, Ill., Aug. 7.—Joseph Bowen, living at Carpenter, a small station on the Wabash railroad, was driving a four-horse team to a gang plow when a storm came up. Lightning struck the outfit, dropping all of the horses in their tracks.

Three of them were killed instantly, but the fourth revived. Bowen stood still, stunned, with the reins around his neck, blinded by the glare, but unhurt. He was aroused from his trance by a stifling sensation and found his clothing on fire.

STRIKERS TRY TO CUT OFF STOCKHOLM'S FOOD SUPPLY

No Material Change in Situation—Effort to Prevent Farmers from Bringing in Provisions.

Stockholm, Aug. 7.—With the return to work of grave diggers and other strikers, and disarming in the ranks of the hungry horde affected by the labor trouble, the tense situation arising from the trouble appears to-day to be relaxing. Announcements have been made by heads of several of the largest plants in this city that their men will be back to work Monday.

It is reported that the Central Federation of the Trades unions has requested the government to mediate in the present crisis, but this is denied by the chairman of the federation. M. Von Sydow, president of the Employers' federation, declared that intervention by the government would be without result as the differences between the men and the employers were too great to be settled in such a manner. The National Labor union published a statement in the newspapers disapproving the strike of the electric light and gas workers.

As the strikers have been preventing farmers from bringing provisions into the city, troops have been detailed to patrol the country roads. The military authorities continue to dispense milk from the railroad stations for the use of children.

The authorities have forbidden the sale of methylated spirits, as it has been found that the workmen, unable to obtain their usual drink, are resorting to drinking this liquor.

MRS. ROOSEVELT VISITS PARIS

Joined by Son and Daughter in the French Capital.

Paris, Aug. 7.—Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, accompanied by her sister, Miss Carow, and her youngest son, arrived in Paris from Milan.

The municipal authorities were present at the railroad station to prevent their formal salutations. Archibald and Ethel Roosevelt rejoined their mother in Paris after another trip with Baron Mayor des Planches, the Italian ambassador to the United States, and his wife to the Italian lakes. Mrs. Roosevelt will return to Miss Carow's villa at Porto Maurizio in the autumn and there await the return of Mr. Roosevelt from Africa.

The committee will spend two weeks on the isthmus, going over every detail of the work.

JAPANESE THREATEN JUDGE.

Hawaiian Jurist Gets Deadly Warning as Trial Starts.

Honolulu, Aug. 7.—Circuit Judge John T. Dehobit has received an anonymous letter threatening that if any of the Japanese implicated in the strike conspiracy are convicted in the trials now in progress he will meet a worse fate than that of Editor Shaba of the Hawaii Shinto, who was stabbed and wounded last week.

The trial of the men charged with conspiracy, which began to-day, will be pressed despite the abandonment of the strike.

Delay Issue of Bonds.

Washington, Aug. 7.—None of the new Panama bonds authorized by congress will be issued before congress meets again and has had an opportunity to change the existing circulation tax.

The Demon Hurry.

Time has been saved, almost annihilated, by steam and electricity, yet where is the leisure? The more time we save the less we have. The hurry of the machine passes into the man. We can outrun the wind and the storm, but we cannot outrun the demon of Hurry.—John Burroughs.

There is a great gulf between "the difficult" and "the impossible." Sometimes it is difficult to secure what you want, even through want advertising—but it is hardly over impossible. To secure it without want advertising is always difficult—and often impossible.

EVERYBODY INTERESTED
IN SPLENDID NEW OFFEROpportunity Which Lasts From August 7 to August 17 Being Eng-erly Seized—All candidates Alert—Realize That Next Few Days is When Prizes Can be Won.Contestants Who Turn in Five New Twelve-Month Subscriptions Will Receive 25,000 Extra Votes—Additional News.Any subscriber stopping the paper DURING the contest and renewing same at a latter date during the contest will be considered an OLD subscriber and votes issued accordingly. A subscriber is considered NEW if he was not a subscriber to the paper at the inauguration of the contest regardless of the fact that he has been a subscriber at some past time. All subscribers to the Gazette who pay their arrears and change to Daily are considered NEW subscribers to the Daily.The special offer opened Saturday, August 7, 1909, and closes August 17, 1909. The contest closes September 4, 1909. Do not get these dates confused.

Note About Subscriptions.

A ballot of 25,000 extra votes will be given to each contestant who turns in the office of The Gazette five new 12-month subscriptions between now and August 17th, 1909.A special ballot of 10,000 extra votes will be given to each contestant who turns in five six-monthly daily subscriptions to The Gazette—one new yearly count as two six months.
Contestants can turn in these subscriptions any time and the contest manager will keep a correct record and will issue the extra votes after August 17, to all who have turned in five or more.Contestants are not limited to only five new subscriptions. For every five new 12-month daily subscriptions will receive 25,000 and for every new subscriber above the five will receive an additional 5,000—7 new 12-month daily subscribers entitle you to an extra ballot of 35,000 votes;
8 will give you 40,000 votes and so on.
The regular ballot will be mailed to you upon receipt of each subscription and the extra ballot will be mailed to you on Thursday, August 19, all of which can be held in reserve and voted at any time during the contest.Candidates should poll a few votes every day to let their friends know they are still in the race. But by all means keep reserve for the last day.
If you know how many votes you have it will be much harder to defeat you than if you have all your votes in the paper where everyone can see how you stand and know just what it takes to beat you.Just 28 days remain to convert every non-subscriber of The Gazette to an ardent reader. Can this be done, is asked by many. Probably not all, but very nearly all.

Subscription Ballots.

The ballots secured on subscriptions are good as long as the contest lasts, which is up to and including September 4. The coupons clipped from the paper are good for one week only and will not be counted after the date printed on each coupon. Votes of this character must on the day corresponding to the date on the coupon are good and will be counted on the day after.
Coupons cast where the date has expired will not be counted under any circumstances. A little care should be taken to see that these votes are polled in time. Coupons are discarded daily on account of the expiration of dates and therefore do not count.
Those turned in on time will be counted promptly and the correct credit accorded.Contestants mailing coupons to this department should be sure there is enough postage on them. From two to three days' delay in delivery has been caused in several instances, due to the failure of the contestants to provide sufficient postage. They come as first-class mail matter, owing to the fact that there is writing on them.A great many people do not understand, and for their satisfaction we wish to say that anyone starting to take the paper since the contest started will always be considered a non-subscriber during the life of the contest and votes given accordingly. If you start the paper now, and wish to something in advance, and wish to pay more later during the contest, you will receive the same number of votes as a new subscriber.Girls, do not let others carry away these valuable prizes without a struggle, but make up your mind that you will be the winner, and go after the prizes in a manner that will exclude your competitors. Those who have already entered are doing nicely and it seems that each one is working hard to come out victorious. There are many people who are willing to subscribe if they are asked. Get up your courage, girls, and go after these backward subscribers. Nothing counts in votes as fast as your subscription and there are plenty of people waiting to pay their money down.
While the contest is in its infancy do your work and let the rest of you do it. If you do not let the rest of you do it, you will not win.Begin now to work and obtain your share of the winning.
Only four weeks remain in the Gazette's contest. Not very many when it comes to counting the days, is it?
Well, that means a little accelerated work for every contestant in the race, especially if the contestants want to draw August 17th. Act quickly if you desire to enter this popular contest.

"Future" Orders.

Don't give up getting a party as a subscriber simply because he is already taking some other paper for which he has paid in advance. Take his subscription to The Gazette, to be in at the expiration of the other paper, and when that time arrives hewill begin to receive The Gazette.
Open Evenings.
For the benefit of those who cannot call during business hours this office and contest department will be open every evening until 8 o'clock.
